The Om Song

by Paramhansa Yogananda Cm to start

Cm

Whence Om, this soundless roar, doth come, When

G Cm

drowseth matter's dreary drum?

On shores of Bliss, Om, booming, breaks;

G Cm

All earth, all heaven, all body shakes.

E_b

B_b

The bumble bee now hums along; Baby Om doth

E_b softly sing his song. From Krishna's flute the call is

A_b E_b B_b E_b

sweet; 'Tis time the watery God to meet.

Cm

Cords bound to flesh are broken all;

G Cm

Vibrations burst and meteors fall!

The hustling heart, the boasting breath.

G Cm

No more shall cause the Yogi's death.

E_b

B_b

The God of Fire with fervor sings: "Om! Om!" His

E_b joyous harp now rings. (pause) Prana-God with power

A_b E_b B_b E_b

sounds, The wondrous bells; the soul resounds.

Cm
All Nature lies in darkness soft;
G Cm
The star divine is seen aloft.

Subconscious dreams have gone to bed;
G Cm
'Tis then that one doth hear Om's tread.

E_b
Oh, upward climb the Living Tree!
B_b E_b
Hark to the cosmic symphony.

From Om, the soundless roar;
A_b E_b B_b E_b
from Om the call for light o'er dark to roam.

Repeat:

E_b B_b
From Om, the music of the spheres; From Om, the mist
E_b
of Nature's tears. All things of earth and heaven
A_b E_b B_b E_b
declare, Om! Om! resounding everywhere.
